

Now Everything is Good and Sweet

(Setting for congregation, Lenten response)

Text: Laurentius Laurenti, trans: A. Jensen

Tune: Sarah Siegler

Voice

1. Now ev' - ry - thing is good and sweet! My
2. His vi - brant face grows pale and fair Whose

Piano

6

Je - sus cries, "It is com - plete!" He bows his head, he glo - ry is be - yond com - pare. With won - drous signs God shuts his eyes. For you he dies. To shows his might, The sun's bright light Co -

12

18

earn you an e - ter - nal 1. prize.
vers it - self in dark - est 2. night.

(1 - Major) (Opt. minor)

There are eleven verses to this poem - setting for Lent. Entire poem can be found at www.studiumexcitare.com/content/150